BOY ASSAULTS GIRL OF 14YRS. NEWS FROM ALL PARTS OF COUNTY

Crime Alleged to have been Committed Near Fountaindale. Boy Caught by Constable Wilson and Brought to County Jail.

Charged with attempted assault on a year old girl, 500 rods south of Fountaindale, Archibald, N.Y., last evening, is a boy, 14, who is said to be a member of the Corman family.

The crime is alleged to have been committed on Sunday evening. May 26, at about 9 o'clock. The boy, with a companion, is said to have visited at the Fountaindale house that evening.

At about 10 o'clock, when he was returning home, he was arrested by Constable Wilson, who, after half an hour's search, found the boy at the home of his mother, Mrs. Wilson.

From the center of the boy's body, he was not received into town more than a mile from his home, he was the letter from the hillbilly, were to the Monocacy Hotel, containing a note, which he had been sent by his father, and the letter had been written by his mother.

This note for the boy, between the sealing of the typewritten note and the time of his arrival, was written by his mother.

Mr. Clegg, who is the boy's father, said that he had been sent to the home of Charles E. Wilson, when he was 14 years old, and had been staying there ever since.

Young Wilson, when seen, a boy of 14, was described as being of average height, with a slight build, and had only knowledge of the crime, and said that he was innocent. When asked if he had been to the home of his mother, he said: "I live at home."

The boy is the son of Orson H. Wilson, 35, of Fountaindale, and the Eagle Company man there, a man of excellent reputation.

Mr. Wilson, who is a member of the church, is a man of good character, and is well known to his neighbors.

The girl is one of the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Anna Sprague, living in the same house as the boy, and is about two miles from Fountaindale on what is known as the Old Drury property.

Exceptional ignorance or mental deficiency on the part of the girl, alleged to be the victim of Archibald Wilson, is denied by the police, the prima facie hearing given to the boy.

Mr. Swisher had a belt which plainly distinguished the marking characteristic of an eagle. He says the belt was given to him by his father.

Mr. Swisher could not get along with the boy, and the boy, in the series he had, was not good, he says.

Parties in the vicinity of Fountaindale, however, say that the boy, this spring, in the mountains, it is not believed that they are the same name as the boy.

Crime Alleged to have been Committed Near Fountaindale. Boy Caught by Constable Wilson and Brought to County Jail.

Charged with attempted assault on a year old girl, 500 rods south of Fountaindale, Archibald, N.Y., last evening, is a boy, 14, who is said to be a member of the Corman family.

The crime is alleged to have been committed on Sunday evening, May 26, at about 10 o'clock. The boy, with a companion, is said to have visited at the Fountaindale house that evening.

At about 10 o'clock, when he was returning home, he was arrested by Constable Wilson, who, after half an hour's search, found the boy at the home of his mother, Mrs. Wilson.

From the center of the boy's body, he was not received into town more than a mile from his home, he was the letter from the hillbilly, were to the Monocacy Hotel, containing a note, which he had been sent by his father, and the letter had been written by his mother.

This note for the boy, between the sealing of the typewritten note and the time of his arrival, was written by his mother.

Mr. Clegg, who is the boy's father, said that he had been sent to the home of Charles E. Wilson, when he was 14 years old, and had been staying there ever since.

Young Wilson, when seen, a boy of 14, was described as being of average height, with a slight build, and had only knowledge of the crime, and said that he was innocent. When asked if he had been to the home of his mother, he said: "I live at home."

The boy is the son of Orson H. Wilson, 35, of Fountaindale, and the Eagle Company man there, a man of excellent reputation.

Mr. Wilson, who is a member of the church, is a man of good character, and is well known to his neighbors.

The girl is one of the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Anna Sprague, living in the same house as the boy, and is about two miles from Fountaindale on what is known as the Old Drury property.

Exceptional ignorance or mental deficiency on the part of the girl, alleged to be the victim of Archibald Wilson, is denied by the police, the prima facie hearing given to the boy.

Mr. Swisher had a belt which plainly distinguished the marking characteristic of an eagle. He says the belt was given to him by his father.

Mr. Swisher could not get along with the boy, and the boy, in the series he had, was not good, he says.

Parties in the vicinity of Fountaindale, however, say that the boy, this spring, in the mountains, it is not believed that they are the same name as the boy.
